THE DAY WE CELEBRATE!

The 76th Anniversary of the Birth of Britain's Queen---Appropriate Observation of the Day.

Victoria Alexandrina, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, only child of the late Duke of Kent and the Princess Louisa Victoria of Saxe-Coburg, was born a Kensington Palace seventy-six years ago today. Until within a few weeks of her elevation to the throne upon the death of her uncle, William IV., June 20, 1837, her life was spent in comparative retirement. She succeeded him as Victoria I., and her coronation was celebrated in Westminster Abbey, June 28, 1838.
Her Majesty was married, February 10, 1840, to his late Royal Highness Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg Gotha.

By virtue of the power conferred by an Act of parliament passed in the previous session her majesty was, on January 1, 1877, proclaimed Empress of India by the Governor General at the camp of Delhi.
As a child Princess Victoria was lower rooms, where they seemed forgotten by everybody. They rang the bell, and desired that the attendant of the Princess Victoria might be sent to inform her royal highness that they requested an audience on business of importance. After another delay, and another ringing to inquire the cause, the attendant was summoned, who stated that the princess was in such a sweet sleep that she could not venture to disturb her. Then they said: "We come on business of state to the queen, and even her sleep must give way to that." It did; and to prove that she had not kept them waiting, in a few minutes she came into the room in a loose white night gown and shawl, her nightcap thrown off, and her hair falling upon her shoulders, her feet in slippers, tears in her eyes, but perfectly collected and dignified." The Prime Minis-

Victoria Alexandrina, Queen of England and Ireland, and Empress of India.

trained for intelligence and goodness, and it is said that when notified that her uncle was dead and she was then Queen of England, she showed remarkable self-possession.
There is a pretty description given by Miss Wynn of the manner in which the young sovereign received the news of her succession that has often been written but always bears repetition on the anniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Howley and the Lord Chamberlain, the Marquis of Conyngham, left Windsor for Kensington Palace, where the Princess Victoria had been residing, to inform her of the king's death. It was two hours after midnight when they started, and they did not reach Kensington until 5 o'clock in the morning. "They knocked, they rang, they thumped for a considerable time before they could rouse the porter at the gate; they were again kept waiting in the courtyard, then turned into one of the ter, Lord Melbourne, was presently sent for, and a meeting of the privy council summoned for eleven o'clock, when the lord chancellor administered the usual oaths of allegiance to the queen, and her majesty received in return the oaths of the cabinet ministers and other privy councillors present.

During her reign of nearly sixty years Her Majesty has shown herself to be a remarkable woman, evinced at all times a decided interest in the welfare of her people administering to their wants in a quiet and unostentatious manner.
During the last few years Her Majesty's health has failed, though even at her advanced age, her faculties are phenomenally bright.

RHEUMATISM

AND PILES CURED BY

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Mr. W. JENNINGS, Adelaide, S. A., formerly of Hawthorn, near Melbourne, Vic., writes:

"For the past 3 or 4 years, I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism and piles.
I tried all sorts of medicines, but derived no good from them. I chanced to read one of your books and thought I would give your Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and after taking one bottle I felt better, and after taking 4 bottles I was a new man. I was sorry I never took it before, for it would have saved me very much pain."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Has cured others, will cure you.
